What product will you use to improve your dialogue with your neighbour?

“Being neighbours is the first step to forming a society.” With this motto, twenty young artists in Amsterdam have bought up a former driving supermarket. They turned this former ‘SRV-wagen’ (the Dutch name of the former supermarket company) into the Burenwinkel, the Neighbourshop.

From September 15, this shop will go on tour, starting in different streets in Amsterdam. There, they will sell several products that help you communicate with your neighbourhood. “Burenwinkel hands neighbours the opportunity of being good neighbours again.” They provide products such as:

- - a CD with drilling sounds to produce anti-sound if your neighbour is noisy
  - the flower bomb, which will cause your neighbour's garden to blossom in spring
  - a water can with a longer nozzle so that you can sprinkle your neighbour's garden
  - a present for your female neighbours with lingerie and a giftcard "I can look into your bedroom"
  - listening glasses to closely be interested in your neighbour through the wall
  - T-shirts with communication skills to improve dialogue with your neighbour.
- They also call on you to submit your own product.
